Warcraft III (frozen throne included) fitgirl repackAxon regeneration in amphibians and mammals is a highly regulated process that is subject to inhibition by a variety of extrinsic and intrinsic signals. The set of genes expressed during differentiation of retinal ganglion cells, which innervate the brain, has been identified and a number of these genes have also been implicated as playing a role in mammalian regeneration of sensory and motor neurons. Our laboratory has found that one of these genes, the homeobox-containing Thy-1 antigen (Thy-1), is not expressed in either amphibian or mammalian neurites, but that it is re-expressed after axon injury in both rodents and Xenopus laevis. The specific aims of this proposal are two fold: the first is to carry out a quantitative, longitudinal study of the temporal expression of Thy-1, and the other is to characterize the mechanism involved in the differential expression of Thy-1 in regenerating axons of frog and rodent./* * * Copyright (c) 1994 * Hewlett-Packard Company * * Copyright (c) 1996,1997 * Silicon Graphics Computer Systems, Inc. * * Copyright (c) 1997 * Moscow Center for SPARC Technology * * Copyright (c) 1999 * Boris Fomitchev * * This material is provided "as is", with absolutely no warranty expressed * or implied.
