Grapple Tournament is the beginning of a large franchise. New game features are still being implemented, more maps and game modes to come. Play with and against thousands of players at the Grapple Tournament VR Simulator, compete at the Arena VR Tournament and as a sidekick to the new ARG-VR platform, you can even play the whole series in a more unique "VR Experience" on the TV. FEATURES: * Developed from scratch for the VR platform using Unreal engine * Various game modes and maps * Awesome game mechanics and weapons * Move through 3D environments and find secrets with the grappling hook * Dual wielding and grappling hooks will work in tandem with your 3D manipulations * Team battles in 3v3 and more * Friendly challenge bots to improve your skills in multiplayer * Vast community at Discord and Steam * Try out the game in VR-arcade simulator at SteamVR-Center * Lots of customization options for the game and the character * In-Game store with awesome products, such as skins, hats and faces * Multiple game modes including: Battle Royale Team Deathmatch Capture the flag Deathmatch Mutant * Unlockable and customizable items * Thousands of players online * Dedicated tutorial will guide you through the game * An awesome weapon selection with different types of weapons and combos * Multiplayer will allow you to play with friends A FORGOTTEN TECHNOLOGICAL ADVENTURE - NOW IN VR In a few years, more and more people will have seen their first virtual reality (VR). Right now, the technology is mostly connected to entertainment, like movies or game titles. We created a VR simulation to give you a taste of how it works and how to handle it. Although this game can still be played with a regular TV, we recommend to connect your monitor to the VR-system to enjoy more immersion. This is a long and complex process, which we'd like to guide you through, so you're prepared for the future. You can play the game with friends and even compare your stats, like resolution, refresh rate, and graphics. Feel free to leave a few comments on the current game in the Oculus Store, or simply play in the VR arcade simulator. Some weeks ago, we published our first Grapple Tournament game preview. It makes you play a revival of the point and click genre.9/10 GameSpot ... somewhere in a labyrinth your body will be found after death. The game ends. Tesla Effect: A Tex Murphy Adventure (design of RtCW 1.0) The plot of this game was invented by me, as you can see in the thread itself I quote from my documentation and I will explain some elements and I will show the ideas that were in the process of development of the remake. To know who is Tex, see the thread: The comic strip. Characters have personality and are skilled in some specific hand-to-hand combat, you can learn some things and you can learn more over time. The game was designed a simple adventure game with puzzles with a lot of non-linearness, because it follows the idea of a true sequel to RtCW 1.0. And it was developed for 1.0 and 1.5 so, no game-breaking bugs, but it is possible in some levels that may have bugs or misleading elements... In the end of the game of this remake you will have to make a key (or something more specific) and it will lead to a final battle, what happens after the battle is decided on many various levels and depends only on the player. The game will start with a situation very similar to that of the original one, with the difference that you'll be able to explore more and more of the game. Where will you go, what you'll find. Defend yourself against the final mystery and the evil that is hidden in the science of Tesla. All Reviews: Very Positive (2205) - 91% of the 2205 user reviews for this game are positive. What's new in Blackstone Academy For The Magical Arts:

In the golden age of the late 1980s and early 1990s, I had fond memories of Bum-Bo. The vanilla-scented dust quacked through space, and it crashed into the ocean in a blaze of sparks. I marveled at how shockingly bright it was. To me it represented the pinnacle of video game graphics. When asked, why do you like it so much, I could not really imagine. I liked it because I liked the sounds and graphics. It's been several years since I last held a video game controller and thinking back on Bum-Bo, I cannot remember if I actually played the game, or only saw the games of my friend, Andy, starring his favourite hero. The CPU Zombies were as large as small creatures like sheep or rabbits in the small game of my childhood. They swarmed around me on a two-dimensional plane. Their eyes, blinking, danced across the screen, chasing after the protagonist, who was continually fending the numberless hordes off the screen. "Tom, where have you been? I've been worrying about you all day! What happened to you?" I remembered my mother speaking at me the morning I did not come home from my high school basketball game. My mother frowned at me for leaving. I was surprised my parents cared. I had no one else in my life to worry about. Just then, I saw Bum-Bo, coming home. "Mama," Bum-Bo was saying to my mother. My mother was standing close to the edge of the kitchen sink. Bum-Bo was talking to her. I was too far to catch any of their conversation. The kitchen door opened, and it was my father. Dad looked stern. I was sure he was displeased with something. Just then, my mother also looked at him. Then I saw the hurt look on my mother's face. I felt a sad sort of melancholy. I must have won my mother's heart. After I failed to return home after a basketball game, she did not quite look the same towards me when she smiled. Then I realised. "Mama, you're hurt! What happened?" My mother suddenly walked her hand into her mouth. Bum-Bo was still hovering over her shoulder, as if talking to her. She quickly left the kitchen
