Q: How to list all blocks in a directory I'd like to use `rb_block_list()` to list all the methods in a Ruby module/class (or classes of a particular name etc) I haven't found such a thing in the documentation but a good trick to get an answer is to ask someone else. I have already looked at Load Paths and selectors Is there an equivalent of `rm./*.*rbx` which tells the interpreter to refresh all selectors? A: You can try to use `rb_class_list` and `rb_method_list`, but still they're not able to list the methods of all classes (they can list classes of certain name or just the loaded classes). A community-based study of the management of asthma and wheezing by pediatric primary care providers. Health care utilization in children with asthma and wheezing. As asthma and wheezing are leading contributors to pediatric practice visits in the United States, care of these patients by primary care pediatricians is of importance. We conducted a national telephone survey to examine the management of asthma and wheezing by pediatric primary care providers in the United States. A total of 142 primary care pediatricians (PCPs) were recruited to complete a questionnaire that was designed to measure the management of asthma and wheezing by PCPs in their practice. Responses were gathered regarding the preferred treatment of mild asthma and for managing acute asthma exacerbations in children. Of the 142 PCPs surveyed, 67.6% do not routinely refer patients with asthma to allergy/immunology clinics, and 92.4% do not routinely refer children to pediatric asthma specialists. Of the PCPs who do not routinely refer these patients to specialty clinics, the majority cite inadequate time or concern about these referrals as the primary reason for not doing so. Physicians using the American Academy of Pediatrics guidelines for treatment of mild asthma, asthma management guidelines from the National Asthma Education and Prevention Program, or the Children's Asthma Book (CAPP) guidelines reported more frequent use of systemic corticosteroids, albut

His grave is a memorial hall where citizens' portraits gaze down on his replica operational uniform. They get to see what they could only imagine to be his body — based on interviews with health workers and politicians who dealt with him, and the icy glare of his steely eyes, using of course, his muse, educated general Leonardo Mattos, as the likeness model.

Early on, he was deeply involved in fighting the government, promoting a takeover and financing a coup attempt, in which he almost was killed. On the brink of defeat, he went into hiding and suffered for three weeks before he was able to get out of the country. He was able to return when Fidel handed power to Raul Castro, creating
