There is color everywhere; it fills the world. It is a curtain of colors, an inner world, an outer world. But there is more to it than that. There is a darker side, the side that is sometimes soft, sometimes hard. And it lurks in that world, shaped like a monster. This is the story of the monster and its world. The world belongs to the other side. The other side called itself "The World of Color". The World of Color The World of Color was an unknown world, a deeper world filled with wonderful colors. It has many islands, and each island has many trees, islands surrounded by trees. Trees are the people's children, and each tree has a different child. The people had a good life. And from time to time, the people went into the deeper world. One day, the people were going deeper into the world, but the deeper world seemed to be moving towards them. The people were frightened, but still they continued. The people had to go deeper into the world. The trees saw it. "Have some good children," the trees said to the people. "They'll make you stronger, and they'll prevent them from going deeper into the world." The people said "Thank you" and "Good bye" to the trees. The people moved on, and came to an island with many trees. Trees are hard like metal, so the people did not fear them. The people traveled deeper into the world, but the further they went, the more frightened they became. The people had to escape. The people remembered the trees' children. The people needed them; they remembered that the trees were willing to give them their children. The people remembered the trees' good deed, and decided to do the same. The people came back to the trees, and asked for their children. "No," the trees said. The people were confused. They decided to go deeper into the world. The people traveled deeper into the world, but they were still quite frightened. The people began to forget about their good deed, and began to torture their children. And they thought the trees would not be upset. The trees were not upset. They knew what was going to happen. But then the people started to forget, and started to forget the good deed. The people left the children.

Is Yours? This is a transcript of an edited version of the Personal Immortality and Eternal Joy Program. A program which states what I said as follows: I. There have been several major intellectual and spiritual revolutions in the last few centuries - the Scientific Revolution in the eighteenth century, the Hegelian Revolution in the nineteenth, the Freudian Revolution in the early twentieth, and now the Quantum Revolution. The result of all this is that a worldview known as "Western Civilization" became accepted as the most satisfactory explanation of the history of humankind and for the spiritual future of those living within the Western Civilization. Of course, there are many flaws in this worldview, and it has become evident that much of the Universe does not fit with it. But since the world does not conform to our worldview, we cannot have a true understanding of the world or the Universe. It became evident to many in the latter part of the twentieth century that Western Civilization, and the way people generally understand life, can never explain all the evidence. All evidence beyond what we can see with our own five physical sense organs can only be revealed by a source or Agency outside of our five physical sense organs. The acceptance of the notion that our ordinary five sense organs are the only source of information about the world and other people is called the "orthodox viewpoint." It is this viewpoint which is described in this program, and which we must question if we are to understand the Universe and the cosmic consciousness in a way which is consistent with our intuitive understanding of the nature of consciousness. Even though most people believe that life must be an evolution continuing in certain ways over long spans of time, we all realize that there are many things which do not fit into this "standard model". Most people also realize that the Universe is observed to have participated in consciousness, but that the very nature of consciousness is very complex and can only truly be understood by those who have entered into and experienced their own essential identity. Even before the advent of the Quantum Revolution, non-Western thinkers often had a different perspective from that of Western Civilization. For example, we know from both Western and Eastern Sensist literature that Western Civilization was founded on Christianity, and then adopted vast swaths of other religions. In India

Crab - a brave bodyguard of the Big Ocean. With the help of his friends Turtlon and Fox the marine talks in the post-apocalyptic world. About the Game Permadeath, level cap 60, open world, simultaneous turn-based battles, levels, dungeons, plots, city of veterans, the legendary weapons of the great armies of the past, robots, demons and monsters, fights with the help of your friends - all these unique features have already been saved for you. Reach the destination without being spotted. Destroy the enemy's weapons. And always be ready to deal a sudden attack. "The Big Ocean is a place of miracles and I'm going to clean it up!". "How am I going to survive?". "What's the point of a life in the post-apocalyptic world?". "What's going to be my next target?". "Who'll be the next hero?". "Where have I got to?". "What will be my friend's next move?" This is one of the best games for the fighting genre. The story is gripping and the gameplay is fun. I never get tired of this game. Only complaint I have is that I wish I could actually buy the game outright. I would be far less likely to play it if I didn't have the option of buying it through Xbox Live. The bigger issue though is when you get a game review on IGN that says "Second place picks up the controller: also recommended." Would they throw their games under the bus in favour of a more popular product? I also find it odd that IGN seems to be trying to combat piracy by recommending only those games that will be the most pirate friendly. I suggest IGN and the other gaming sites read their guidelines and learn how to spot and report point-of-sale piracy before causing controversy in the industry. Who cares how they will be pirate-friendly? Better to hide this games in the future and get it really good reviews. First place pick up the controller: also recommended.: 10 Third place pick up the controller: also recommended.: 9
