Figure 1.2 A working photo of a blank canvas and a project photo with a blank canvas 2. 5. Duplicate the layer by dragging the layer thumbnail from the Layers panel onto the photo canvas. Name it "Landscape." The "Landscape" layer is now on top of the "Street" layer. You'll put the photo of the street sign in the "Landscape" layer. It doesn't matter which layer you place it on, but as a beginner you need to make it one of the first layers to know where to place other layers. 3. 6. Choose Layer▸New from Layers. A New Layer dialog box appears, as shown in Figure 1.3. 4. 7. Click OK. The new layer is added to the Layers palette. When you create a new layer, the layer immediately becomes visible on the canvas. Other layers, however, are still not visible. You must first make the new layer visible by expanding and collapsing the layer. To do so, you click the small down-pointing arrow on the right side of the Layers palette
